

problem in today's society. There appears to be a lack of support's. teen mother don't know their options. I feel that many teens today are unaware of the dangers of unprotected sex. To bring another life into this world without proper care and attention is to no one's advantage.

An example of this is the care of alias Kim who is a teenage mom. She is 15 years old and now living with their family in Brgy. Kabulusan.

This study wants to describe the experiences of a future teenage mom.

CHAPTER 1

BACKGROUND OF THE STUDY

Introduction

Teenage pregnancy refers to a pregnancy of female under the age of 18 when had conceptions. Under 18, conceptions result in either a life birth or an abortion. About the quarters of teenage pregnancy are unplanned and about half and in an abortion. For pregnancies that end in birth there are likely to be poor outcomes for both the mother and her child. Teenage parents are prone to poor antenatal health, more at the risk or poor mental health more likely to smoke, less likely in breastfeed and more likely not to be in education, employment and training. Teenage parents are more likely to be single parents and have children living in poverty. Babies born in teenage mother are more likely to have lower birth weight and or die in infancy. Children born of teenage mother are also likely to become teenage parents themselves.

One in ten young Filipino women age 15-19 has begin childbearing; 8 parent are already mothers and another 2 parent are pregnant with their first child according to the result of the 2013 national demographic and health survey(NDHS). Among young adult women age 20 to 24 ,43% are already mothers and 4% are pregnant with their first child. According to the survey teenage pregnancy is a

Significant of the study

The study will also benefit student who still are at school because it will give them the information about the cause and possible effects of teenage pregnancy to their studies once they got pregnant.

In one way, another this paper will guide them to focus first their attention to their studies rather than giving priority to their romantic affairs with boyfriend.

This study will also benefit the parents to enable them to realize their great role in educating their teenagers, protecting diverting the from indulging early sex especially if without marriage. They must be aware too of what kinds of peers their teenage have. This study too will make the parents aware that education about the use of contraceptives will start also at home.

This study will also benefit the teacher for they could be informed how important is education to the development of children to manhood.

This study will also benefit school administrators. It would provide them information of the importance of knowing the major factors behind early pregnancy and the possible effect on educational development of teenagers. It's one way that administrators will intensify sex education on their school, improve the knowledge of their faculties or teachers through seminars so that they can deal well with students to avoid pregnancy to early age.

STATEMENT OF THE PROBLEM

This study wants to describe the experiences of a future teenager mom.

Specifically, this study wants to answer the following question:

1. What are the struggles, trials & problem of a future teenage mon?
2. What are the lesson learned from their experiences?
 - a.