Dropping out is more of process than an event, for some students begins in early elementary school. To better understand the underlying causes behind students' decision of dropping out. I interview some students who dropped-out from school.

Financial status of the family is one of the strongest predictors of dropping out. And they just want to work to earn for their living. They just set aside their will in going to school.

The abstract highlights of this study, was conducted to describe the experiences of the said persons during their early age upon dropping out from the school. For the readers, especially the young ones to have the knowledge, what are the consequences if they dropped-out from school.

And the main source of the data were from the interviewee of a selected person who agree with me to have an interview.
