Education is essential part of human's life. Not all parents have the ability to support their childrens' needs, and these students enforced to work while studying. The rate of working student was inflated (SOC, 2011). Due to high cases, The Department of Labor and Employment (2015) offered jobs for working student all over the country. Even students grabbed those opportunities, it is not always easy for them to balance school, work, and more responsibilities. So the parents also affected the said system.

In this case study, it was conducted to emphasize the lived experiences of the student as a working student and vividly described it.

The main sources of the data were from the interview towards the topic. We used Litchman's 3cs of analysis in this qualitative data to analyse and interpret the result of the study.

The themes made from the experiences are: Rock Foundation, Tools and Blocks, and Fu-fully Furnished. To be able describe her distinct experiences, we ended up three descriptions: The Participant's Heart-felt Decision, The Participant's Mindful Steps, and the Participant's Succession.
