This particular study focused to those people who started to read wamppad as a hobby but suddenly turn into Wamppad addiction. Wamppad has a great impact on the participants' lives. The participants' addiction on the said application due to variety of reasons majorly affects their daily routine, social life and academic performance.

This phenomenological study was sought to deeply understand the effects of being a wamppad addict to the overall being of a millennial. It was also done to gather data that will suffice our research objectives.

This data was gathered from the experiences of a wamppad addict that the researchers had been interviewed. Litchman 3c's of analysis was done in able to analyse and interpret the results of the study.

The three themes emerged from experiences are: Unaware of losing attention, an incomplete accomplishment, and neglecting herself unintentionally. To describe the experiences of the participants, the researchers come up with the three descriptions: the watsapp addict's insufficient sleep, the watsapp addict's forgotten responsibilities, and the watsapp addict's primary concern.

It is the only that they have done for the success of this research study. Without them this study will not be made possible.

First is to our Research teacher, Mrs. Mary Ann Gargandan for her continuous support, patience, motivation and sharing her wisdom for the completion of this research. Also for her guidance and inspirational words that lead the researchers to work harder to achieve a better outcome.

To all of the Senior High School Teachers, for extending their support, for always understanding each of the researchers when they are still doing the study even if it is not related to their subject and for giving some advice in the sake of this study.

The researchers' whose appreciation also goes to Mrs. Valynne Valdez for her encouragement and for being the source of inspiration and also for the support, moral and other friendly.

To Mrs. Stepha May Binabina who inspired the researchers by giving some insights to their the chapter 1.

To our participants who cooperate with the researchers by lending them as much as possible and providing information about the topic. For their support and
