

ABSTRACT

Title: A Phenomenological Study of High School Working Students

Researchers: Rey Ann B. Glean

Grace Lyn R. De Taza

Marjorie A. Casipi

John Mark S. Legaspi

Mark ledzep D. San Andres

Jaymar A. Bautista

Subject Teacher: Mary Ann B. Gatpandan

School: Gen. E. Aguinaldo National High School

School Year: 2018-2019

Based on a study, Philippines is one of the poorest country in the world. The reason there are lot of working student because they just want to help their family because they see the reality of their life condition. We all know that they know how to manage their time because we see their that is why they all graduated Jr. High school by means of being working student, because of that it became a lesson for us to be not so extravagant and to aim not so important things.

This phenomenological study was conducted to describe the experiences during the historical transformation of being High school working student. It will describe the experiences they face on the life of the working students together with their coping strategies as follows in this study.

The main sources of data were from the interviews in by selected Senior high school of General Emilio Aguinaldo National High School. The Litchman's 3C's of qualitative data analysis was done to analyze and interpret every word and phrases in the result of the study.

The three themes emerged from the experience are; Barbed wire, Wire cutters and the way. The researchers describe the experiences of participants as follows: The Students' sacrifices, The Students' appreciation and The Students' dedication. "Having job as a student is an opportunity, while you're making your own money, you're also developing your ability".

Why they work

Struggles

Strategies

CHAPTER 2: METHODOLOGY

Research Design

Case-Selecting Procedure

Data Analysis

Participant of the Study

CHAPTER 4: ANALYSIS AND INTERPRETATION

Introduction